

FRANNIE PEABODY

CENTER

Comprehensive HIV & AIDS Services

2019 ANNUAL REPORT

Frannie Peabody Center (“FPC”) is Maine’s oldest and largest HIV/AIDS services organization.

MISSION

To Prevent the spread of HIV and provide support for those living with HIV/AIDS in Maine.

VISION

Through continued innovation and a dedicated client-centered approach, we envision an End to AIDS in Maine by 2030.

VALUES

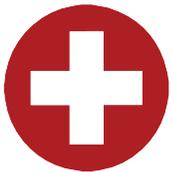

Frannie Peabody Center’s programs are driven by a long, extensive history of providing compassionate care to those impacted by HIV/AIDS. Drawing from its early years as The AIDS Project & Peabody House, the organization remains resilient, courageous, and steadfast in its goals to support sustained health for clients & the community as a whole.

Client-Centered Care

Providing clients with the tools and choices that best fit their individual needs.

FPC is a single point of entry for people affected by and at risk for HIV/AIDS. FPC programs mirror the National HIV/ AIDS Strategy, which aims to reduce new HIV infections, reduce HIV-related health disparities, and increase access to care to optimize health outcomes. Numerous studies show that when HIV-positive individuals are stably housed and medically adherent, they are significantly less likely to risk transmitting the virus.

Annually, FPC provides direct services to over 400 people living with HIV/AIDS in Maine, performs over 750 HIV and/or Hep C tests to those at risk, and reaches thousands of individuals through outreach. The large majority of people served are low-income and face significant barriers to care.
